BERKSHIRE'S MOST WELCOMING HEALTH AND FITNESS CLUB

Damian Fuller – New Director of Tennis

Bradfield College is delighted to announce the appointment of Damian Fuller to take up the new role of Director of Tennis from September. Damian will lead both the College and commercial tennis activities, building on the current strong foundations in each area to achieve significant developments over the coming years. He is a dynamic, positive and engaging individual with the skills and passion to enable us to achieve our bold objectives for the future.

Damian, aged 43, is currently the Head of Performance Tennis at the Ivybridge Academy in Devon. Qualified as an LTA Master Performance Coach, Damian has a strong track record of developing many Tennis Europe and ITF level juniors plus Mini Tennis players to National Talent ID standard. He coached three players who competed in the Orange Bowl (USA) and at Tarbes (France), the most prestigious junior events in world tennis and both regarded as the unofficial Junior World Tennis Championships. Damian has also worked on the WTA tour and ITF Futures / Challenger circuit. As a player, Damian reached a career high rating of 3.1. One of Damian's key objectives will be to establish performance programmes and inspire high potential players of all ages to make the most of their talents.

Damian started his career by spending 5 years in sales, but he now has over 20 years' of experience coaching and leading tennis activities in commercial facilities, LTA accredited satellite centres and schools, including 4 years at David Lloyd in Eastbourne plus 10 years setting up and developing his own large academy in Sussex. Having focused on performance tennis for the last 4 years, Damian is now very much looking forward to directing a broader programme as well as continuing to work in performance.

The existing tennis team of Lucy Taylor (Tennis Development Officer), Damian Lane (Senior Coach) and Liam Phillips (Assistant Coach) will all remain with us and should benefit from the addition of another experienced tennis professional to help lead them forwards.

Damian is married with twin children and is in the process of moving to Berkshire. His other interests include languages, art and music, plus the psychology of sport and human behaviour.
